3. Favoring state aid "resulting a substantial measure of control over the state highways in the counties and municipalities through which they pass, providing no communities be bypassed without consent, and curtailing the power of the state board of highway directors to acknowledge the communities wishes.

John Hoagmen, chairman of the Jerome chamber highway committee, acted as moderator of the panel, which included William H. Detweiler, state senator from Jerome county; W. R. LaPorte, Jerome; William MacKnight, Jerome, and Charles Hawley and Ross Gardner, both Eden.

Senator Detweiler told the panel, "the farmers gave the right of way for the first road (highway 25), and now they are asked to give up land again. We have had the highway department for just three years, and it is an experiment even now, but it can be improved by giving some control to the counties and municipalities."

Keel said that letters from highway boards in surrounding states were presented at the meeting showing that in those states the policy is not to bypass communities without the affected communities' consent.

a large insurance company. Sich is now campaigning to succeed his boss.

Mrs. Pfost said in Washington she saw "nothing unusual" in Patten's decision to mail the material to all Idaho adults in stamp-free envelopes. But she denied reports she had contacted the mailing room to speed up the mailing process.

Mrs. Pfost said she hasn't taken a stand on the initiative because "it isn't a piece of federal legislation," and "the people of Idaho are capable of handling the situation."

One of the original incorporators of the group sponsoring the initiative is J. G. Bowers, Nampa, brother of Mrs. Pfost.

Said Mrs. Pfost: "I think the movement is spearheaded by people who are sick and tired of paying high power rates. I would like to see the issue come to a vote—anything as big as the development of natural resources should be voted upon."

She said she would have been entitled to send out the material under her own frank, if she had been asked. She said she didn't know if she would have done so.

Tax Division Is Explained

Dan Cavanagh, former contractor, sheepman and leader of Idaho Democrats, was in error in part of his statement Monday, blasting critics of the state highway program, J. D. (Jake) Sinema, county highway engineer asserts.

The error, Sinema points out, is in Cavanagh's assertion that 20 per cent of the highway tax, together with about 50 per cent of the motor vehicle tax, is diverted to the cities, counties and highway districts, with matched federal funds to meet their needs.

Sinema says the state law provides all highway users revenue, gasoline tax money, vehicle license fees and other highway [illegible]

Local units receive 30 per cent of the state highway fund with four per cent going to cities with a population of 2,500 or more on a percentage basis.

Ninety-six per cent of the 30 per cent goes to counties. All counties get an equal 10 per cent, 46 per cent on improved road mileage and 45 per cent on motor vehicle registration fees, he concluded.

The rest of the money stays in Idaho, with 25 per cent of all contributions given in each county earmarked for expenditures for crippled children in that county, the county trustee announced.

MOLOTOV 'GNORES HISTORY

Russian Foreign Minister Molotov recently likened the North Atlantic treaty to the pre war anti-Comintern pact of the axis powers. He said he has no doubt the fate of NATO will be no better than that of the earlier pact between Germany, Italy and Japan.

This is a typical piece of communist camouflage laid across past history, which Mr. Molotov foolishly imagines no one can remember.

To begin with, the Axis treaty was for all practical purposes an offensive pact. The three axis countries were bent on aggression. They had their sights set, too, on more than just Communist Russia. Among them they expected ultimately to subdue Asia, Africa and the European democracies.

Molotov wrongly implies that it was directed solely at the Soviet union. He also implies incorrectly that Russia alone smashed this effort. The blunt truth is that without allied aid, particularly material from the United States, Russia very likely would have lost the war to Germany.

In the fall of 1942, the Russians were perilously close to defeat. At that moment the "anti-Comintern" pact must have looked reasonably impressive to Moscow.

The NATO pact is something else. It is purely defensive in character. It came into being slowly, painfully, only after all efforts at reasonable settlement of postwar issues with Russia had collapsed. Given a cooperative Kremlin, there would have been no need for NATO.

As for Molotov's jaunty assurance that NATO's fate no be better than the axis pact suffered, he is here indulging in wishful thinking. No one wants war. If anybody starts it, Russia will.

But Russia another time would not have the benefit of American and other allied materiel. She would have the combined weight of the free world—not inconsiderable today—thrown against her.

To be sure, Russia has increased output substantially since World war II, and his drawn iron curtain countries into her fold. But as things now stand, and are likely to be at least for the next two decades, the Soviet union has no grounds for such optimism as Molotov so glibly expresses.

Always assuming, of course, that Western Europe, including Western Germany, stays in the allied orbit.

The foreign minister's excess bravado disturbs no one who can recall what really happened in the great war.

SYMPATHETIC CABBIE

Harold Russell, former president of AMVETS, was one of the featured speakers for Washington's Brotherhood week observances sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He was late leaving New York for LaGuardia field, and as he jumped into a taxi, he urged the driver to hurry so that he wouldn't miss his plane.

Russell is perhaps best known as the Academy Award winning star of "The Best Years of Our Lives." The taxi driver didn't recognize him as such, but did notice the two hooks which Russell has had to use as the result of losing both hands in the war.

The driver asked Russell if he would mind a personal question. Russell said of course not. Well, the driver wanted to know, did he have any trouble using those hooks?

"None at all," said Russell, "My only trouble right now is getting to the airport in time to catch that plane."

The taxi increased speed to 40 miles an hour.

"All of us have something wrong with ourselves one way or another," philosophized the driver as he pushed his car up to 50. "Now take me, for instance. I don't see very well."

BARKLEY IN RACE

Evidently Alben Barkley, former vice president, is running again for the senate on the Democratic ticket. Before he was elevated to Veep under former President Truman, he held a senate spot from Kentucky for a long spell.

The old warhorse is 76 now, but he hasn't lost his taste for battle. When you've had a lifetime of political combat, you don't enjoy sitting at home, stripped of your titles, watching other politicos cavort on your TV set.

What Barkley wants, plainly, is to get back on the Washington scene, and back on the transmitting end of the TV network where he once was comfortably installed.

Those who know Kentucky politics would not like to bet that he won't make it.

METERED 'HOME'

We detect the barest outlines of a new trend.

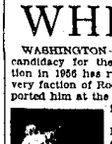
In Chicago, a friend stepped into a taxi and found it fitted out with a magazine rack, fully loaded. The driver also offered free flicks to a TV show.

In New York, another fellow hopped a taxi and found the cabbie offering him coffee, tea, hot chocolate, cold bottled drinks and cigarettes.

Anyone who tries to get across any big town these days will get the point. These days a man has three homes: his house, his office, and his taxi. He might as well be made comfortable in all three.

TUCKER'S NATIONAL WHIRLIGIG

WASHINGTON—Adlai E. Stevenson's apparent candidacy for the Democratic presidential nomination in 1956 has run into heavy opposition from the very faction of Roosevelt-Truman liberals who supported him at the Chicago convention.



Roy Tucker

Despite his express, Rep. Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., is an avowed candidate for the nomination for New York governor and his friends are confident that a victory over Gov. Thomas E. Dewey next fall will clear the road for his selection by the Democratic party for the top honor two years hence. They do not want to buck a sure-fire first-term Stevenson.

Another reason possibility is Averell Harriman Realizes being an outside possibility for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, if "Junior" cannot win the grade, he may try to succeed Sen. Lehman in the senate when the latter's term expires in 1956.

Although a close personal friend of the Chicago man, Harriman tried to persuade him to withhold his convention [illegible] in favor of [illegible] Tennessee.

KEFAUVER BARKS BACK Kefauver is another "liberal" who is not entirely happy over Stevenson's continued political activity. Although his famous crime investigation has had few concrete results in the way of enforcement legislation, Kefauver cannot forget that he polled a large number of delegates on the first ballot at Chicago.

In short, Stevenson's re-entry on the political stage has stirred personal and factional rivalries at a time when they should be composed and recovered from their 1952 disaster, in which they lost four southern states and carried two others by the slimmest of majorities.

But the defeated candidate, with the support of his personally selected national chairman, Stephen A. Mitchell, means to continue with his speech making and various national rallies.

Another oddity of the Stevenson comeback is that it was partially inspired and welcomed by the very Southern conservatives who opposed him at Chicago over the "loyalty oath."

Sens. Richard B. Russell, Georgia, and Spessard L. Holland, Florida, had a prominent part in arranging the recent Miami reconciliation. The men from Dixie apparently want to close ranks with the northern faction, if it is at all possible.

DISTURBED BY STEVENSON — The Roosevelt-Harriman-Kefauver factions is disturbed also by the fact that Stevenson has chosen as his subject himself, the Eisenhower-McCarthy controversy. For obvious reasons, the two New Yorkers do not want the issue of communist infiltration at Washington to be the principal issue of the 1954 or 1956 contests.

FDR, jr., and Harriman were too closely associated with the Roosevelt and Truman regimes to appreciate [illegible] emphasis of this problem. So far, both have managed to sidestep any discussion of the alleged betrayals of trust at Washington. Yalta, Teheran and Potsdam. And Kefauver was one of three southerners to vote against the George-Bricker amendment curbing the President's treaty-making power.

In fact, most Democrats agree with them that they should abstain from any participation in the Eisenhower-Nixon-McCarthy spat. They also question the wisdom of making a direct assault on the President in the manner that Stevenson did. In their opinion, their best chance of an autumn triumph lies in charging that the administration's policies are responsible for the disappearance of "Democratic prosperity."

Nevertheless, there are many less involved Democrats, on and off capitol hill, who credit the likable and attractive Stevenson with having stimulated interest and activity in the party's affairs and possibilities.

VIEWS OF OTHERS

INSULT PUERTO RICAN PEOPLE?

The shock and horror of members of the house of representatives in the wake of the murderous gunfire barrage laid down Monday by a handful of Puerto Rican fanatics is understandable. But the announcement by Rep. Harold Velde, R., Ill., that he wants to send a congressional committee to Puerto Rico to investigate is almost as incredible as the fanatics' attack.

The arrested Puerto Ricans were crazed members of the same irrational sect that tried to assassinate former President Truman. Representative Velde, by contrast, is a prominent and presumably responsible member of the congress of the United States and is chairman of the house un-American activities committee.

As Gov. Louis Munoz Marin of Puerto Rico declared immediately after the shootings, the attack was an act of "savage and unbelievable lunacy which does not express in the remotest way the peaceful and decent nature of the people of Puerto Rico."

The would-be assassins are members of a tiny but fanatic nationalist group fighting to obtain complete separation of the United States from Puerto Rico. The Puerto Rico commonwealth legislature has voted time and again by overwhelming majorities to retain the nation's commonwealth status and reject the nationalists' demand.

What greater insult could the United States devise than to send to the friendly Puerto Ricans, already shocked and ashamed by the madness of these fanatics, an investigative committee from congress? What could such a committee possibly accomplish?

Must the congress of the United States attempt to compete in fanaticism with every band of crackpots that comes armed or unarmed to Washington?—Lewiston Tribune

FEDERAL PAY BOOSTS

Increase in government pay is always a politically explosive subject. It is also a perennial subject, as the figures always seem to show that the general level of government pay lags behind that in private employment. Part of this lag the Eisenhower administration seeks to correct with its plan to make small raises in the pay scale, adjust classifications and increase the so called fringe benefits for government employes.

Cost is an important item. It is estimated that the proposed plan would increase the government payroll by about $350,000,000 a year, and that is a lot of money. It would be a justifiable expenditure only if its results would include an improvement in the average level of morale and competence in the government service. If that result is achieved, it in turn should make possible a further shrinkage in the numbers of government employes, thus leading to recovery of some of the cost of higher pay and more liberal benefits. The remainder of the cost should then be a good investment in better government.

Government pay needs to be high enough to make civil service a suitable career for competent people. It needs also to be high enough to avoid for the public servant the one logic of necessity to seek supplementary income. A compelling degree of activity should then be applied in choosing government employes.—Boise Statesman

WHY NOT JOHN SANBORN?

Talk has begun to swarm up on politics a little and as talk is a political yen for both the state of Idaho and the nation, why not start to build a good ticket for both parties? We are probably a little more interested in the Republican framework of the constitution.

Right now we can think of no better man to head the state ticket than John Sanborn of Hagerman. John is safe in early record and fully qualified. However John is not a politician and never will be, but in spite of that we believe he would make a strong candidate for the Republican party.

Sanborn has had enough experience in government to handle the position of governor well. He knows what the farmers want as much if not more in the field of reclamation than any man we know of. Water reclamation and development of our water resources is the biggest thing in Idaho that qualifies John in importance.

Then too, Sanborn has a great sense of fairness that should and would appeal to all classes of people, and is a constructive thinker. Yes up to now we believe John is our choice for governor.—Idaho Power County Press.

Mrs. C. H., Twin Falls—Thanks for the contribution, but it's pretty ancient. Also, we're afraid "I. M. Wise" didn't have much to do with composing it, other than the copying. And what's all this about Bremerton, Wash.?

KEEP IT DOWN!

Dunno why, but everytime someone starts talking to a person who is wearing a hearing aid, the old voice goes up in volume. It happens to us, too. The other day when a gent, equipped with a hearing aid, came into the office, we caught it just in time, spoke to him in a normal tone. Usually, we shout.

So we asked a friend who used to wear a hearing aid. He explained that's the reason hard-of-hearing folks wear hearing aids, so people won't have to shout at them. He also explained he quit wearing his ear aid because folks started shouting.

"Danged near took the top of my head off!" he exclaimed. "And when someone spoiled into a laugh, I couldn't get the volume turned down fast enough!"

Dear Pots:

Because I really like and admire the lass, I can't name her for your constituents, but it just seems that fashion's dictates are a little bit lop-sided or shall we say, too darned exacting.

The lass I'm not mentioning has bought and is wearing a pair of earrings that if they're nothing else, would do well in a pinch for television aerials.

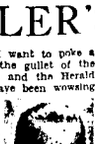
FAMOUS LAST LINE

"... Don't answer the door; he looks like a bill collector!"
GENTLEMAN IN THE FOURTH ROW

HOW THINGS APPEAR FROM PEGLER'S ANGLE

NEW YORK—I want to poke a few teeth down the gullet of the New York Times and the Herald Tribune which have been wowing about the awful un-American injustice of anti-communist snooping such as that attributed to the Veterans of Foreign Wars of Norwalk, Conn.



Westbrook Pegler

The Times and the H T got hysterical over this. But I remember when they were hollering up the dirty work of a snivelling sneak, a faker and a liar calling himself John Roy Carlson who was declared by one United States judge to be unworthy of belief on oath and adjudged guilty of libelous falsehoods against innocent American citizens in two other court trials.

The Times and the Herald Tribune were hard put for words to praise him when he was doing his dirty work for secret "anti nazi" police societies during the war.

Don't ever let President Eisenhower's new-found friend, as of 1952, Arthur Hays Sulzberger, a Roosevelt new dealer, the publisher of the New York Times, forget that. Don't ever let Mrs. Helen Reid, the owner of the Herald Tribune forget it. And never let her forget that she was the personal and professional friend of Sir Barrier for years her "foreign editor," who was named under oath as a communist by five witnesses. Nothing his informal denials of these accusations, ask yourself if anyone ever has had reason to suspect you of being a communist.

Barnes somehow attached himself to Wendell Willkie as guide and interpeter on his tour of Russia. And by some mysterious hocus pocus the same Barnes became the "editor" of our generalissimo's war book, "Crusade in Europe." This is a side-long thought that qualifies my opinion when Ike takes out after Joe McCarthy for woolling and bulling some Brigadier who could have stepped the promotion and honorable discharge of an army judge, then under communist accusations but let the outrage go by default.

The Times and H-T certainly have changed since they were applauding Carlson's vicious, wanton defamations and praising him as a great crusader.

This cheap, quaking impostor, was so timid that he quailed before Blubber Bob Reynolds, the gasbag senator from Nobody Carolina, who couldn't scare a cottontail with a pumpgun.

Born Deroulian, a Levantine stray of no apparent principles, he published anti-Jewish tracts as far as anything ever done by Julius Streicher and gumshoed on law-abiding citizen-taxpayers and worked in and out of the secretive headquarters of the Friends of Democracy and other anti-Semitic things. This was a low-voltage political spying bureau on the order of Isidore Lipschutz's Anti-Nazi league, whose agents boasted of their treachery and thievery at the expense of Americans who wouldn't "conform."

The Times and Herald Tribune are hell against compulsory "conformity" now that loyal Americans will no longer abide treason or the protection of traitors by public officials. But "conformity" by compulsion of this louse was OK then.

Irita Van Doren, the editor of the weekly book review of the H-T wrote a letter in 1946 in which she said: "We have taken some trouble to investigate Mr. Carlson's career and have found his claims substantiated at every point by the state department and the FBI with whom he worked as considerable danger to himself in the interest of his country's welfare."

I did not consult the state department which was infested with sexual queers and/or traitors, but John Edgar Hoover answered, in effect, that this was a lie. Carlson had been an unimportant "informant" for the FBI for a brief time. His results were [illegible] and not heroic at all.

Carlson's grand success was a dirty smear called "Under Cover." This was the one which prompted Federal Judge John B. Barnes, in Chicago, to say, from the bench: "I wouldn't believe this author if he was under oath. (He) could write anything for a dollar."

It might be a slightly different case if the Times and H T had boasted this liar without warning of his character. But they continued to praise him after it had been shown in court that he wrote and published savagely anti-Semitic tracts to be planted on German-Americans of professed American loyalty, to put them on the spot.

After this expose, the H-T nevertheless printed a "review" by Arthur M. Schlesinger, jr., who works at odd jobs for both sheets.

In a "review" of a thing called "The Plotters," published in the Herald Tribune, Schlesinger wrote furiously against "nationalist activity in a shadowy underworld."

In "The Plotters," Carlson boasted that he was employed by and used the "files" of the Friends of Democracy, which now has vanished from the New York telephone book. But in 1946, it boasted of "exposing" the "nationalist" line of the New Daily News, published by the patriot and soldier, Joseph Medill Patterson.

I challenge the owners of the Times and the Herald Tribune to show that they ever attacked Carlson, the Friends of Democracy, the Anti-Nazi league or any other spying and smearing bureau of that school. I defy them to explain why they admired that kind of snooping and smearing by such people but attack the Veterans of Foreign Wars and Joe McCarthy for rooting out traitors.

Who Is the "George" That Will Start the Next W

According to ancient prophecy, a man named Gog, of the Land of Magog, will bring about the worst war in history. A new book, entitled "Beware of These Days!" reveals that the Land of Magog is Russia, and that "Gog" is an ancient spelling for the name of George. Care of Your Children

By ANGELO PATRI

The doctors who treat mentally disturbed people often tell them to do a bit of work that will employ their hands, interest their thoughts and lift the burden of care from themselves. To think away from oneself is always better than to center thought on one's self and its troubles.

The people who have many interests are not likely to be in need of the psychiatrist's care, so we should teach children in such a fashion as to allow them to develop such interests. When we hold them to the text book prescribed for their grade, keep their attention centered on the subjects for which they are examined for promotion, or for entrance to secondary schools and the colleges, we are failing to give them the protection they should have against mental distress.

The man or woman who gardens enthusiastically has a safeguard against worry. So has the weaver, the woodcarver, the artist. The hobbyist is a happy person and happiness is a preventive of mental disturbance. A religious faith is a haven of refuge and a great comfort in time of trouble. These safeguards should be thrown around the children so that they enter life's struggles forearmed.

Mothers and fathers are their children's first and most influential teachers. Their religious practices, their fine ideals and their faith sets that of the children. Mothers can teach children useful work in many forms. Cooking, housework of all sorts, the care of the home furnishings, its smallness and its grounds, sewing of all kinds, weaving, embroidery and mending. Fathers can pass on all their skills and their interests.

The child, who has the ability to occupy his leisure hours happily, is headed toward a happy, useful, healthy way of life. Home and school have a duty here. The beginnings of lifelong interests and profitable skills rest with them. There should be workshops in the schools and they should be presided over by skilled teachers who have been trained, not only in their art or craft, but in their values to the human mind and to the spirit as well.

We believe in preventive measures against physical disease. It is high time that we understood the preventive values that are found in the arts, crafts and religion and allowed them to the children as safe*guards of mental health. Why wait* for the psychiatrist?

An obedient child is liked by everyone and requires little training on the parent's part. If training is started in babyhood, Dr. Patri tells how to guide children in obedience in booklet No. 301. Hells Canyon Plans Backed By Harriman

CALDWELL, March 16 (UP)—Averell Harriman accused the Republican administration last night of "lacking the courage, the imagination and the independence of vested interests to keep the American economy expanding."

"That is the real explanation for the attempt by the administration and Republicans in congress to scuttle the Hells canyon development," he said in a speech delivered at a Jefferson-Jackson dinner.

Opens Campaign

The former secretary of commerce and mutual security director flew to Idaho from New York for the kick-off dinner of the democratic campaign in Idaho. He plans to spend a week at Sun Valley, which he founded, before returning.

At a press conference in Boise, Harriman said he had never considered and would not consider running for the U. S. senate from Idaho. A political columnist suggested such a possibility recently.

He also told the news conference that Senator McCarthy now appears to be on the defensive, and predicted he would "fade out" before "it reaches the point where he is the only loyal person in America."

Idaho Hit Hard

Pointing to a "slowdown in business" and a rise in unemployment, Harriman told the party dinner that "Idaho is hit especially hard because it lacks the balanced industrial development which low cost public power would bring.

"In the week ending Feb. 13, 6 per cent of the workers of the country covered by unemployment insurance were collecting jobless benefits. In Idaho the proportion was 12.5 per cent, more than twice the national average and the highest figure for any state in the union."

Power Needed

He said that "none of the 'imitation development' schemes being thrown out by the power company's lobbyists will save the full potential" of the Snake river "and win for Idaho what the state needs —low cost power essential for the state's future prosperity."

Harriman called claims that a high dam at Hells canyon would interfere with upstream irrigation "more utility propaganda . . . an effort to frighten farmers.

"The facts are that low cost power from this project would permit development of underground water for irrigation."

Wildcat Walkout Ending on Docks

NEW YORK, March 16 (UP)—AFL longshoremen went to work on more than half a dozen strike-bound piers today to break the 12-day wildcat walkout of the rival independent dock union.

Full AFL gangs went to work on five previously shut-down Manhattan piers under heavy guard of billy-carrying police. Striking members of the International Longshoremen's association (Ind.) appeared in force before the piers, but no disturbances were reported.

Other AFL work gangs reported to strike-jammed Brooklyn piers under similar guard.

Child Succumbs

Westendorf, Filer; maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Emil Ehlers, Eden, and a great-grandmother, Mrs. P. C. Ehlers, Twin Falls.

Meet North Dakota Solon; He Doesn't Want His Pay Raised

said, "is no good in this world."

Nor should the temper be exclusively masculine. The Burdicks have three children, two boys and a girl, all of whom are lawyers. Of daughter Eileen and Rosemary Burdick, says: "She's got the devil in her all right. I mean, she has vim and vigor."

Burdick showed vim and vigor while playing football on the great University of Minnesota team of 1903 and 1904. A mere 220-pounder then, Burdick played end. He was so fast he could run 100 yards in 10.5 seconds while wearing his football uniform.

"Sometimes you'd think you didn't have a thing left," Burdick says, "and then you'd look at the fellow across the line and see he was worse off than you were."

Burdick turned to law and ranching, ran up a $150,000 stake before the depression hit. He says he wound up owing $17,000.

He put a lot of faith in sheep, until one farmer shipped a carload east and hopefully waited for his money. He finally got the news. The returns from the sheep failed by $87 to cover the freight costs.

"I once saw a sign that read: 'Oats 4 cents a bushel, corn 6 cents less.'"

So when Burdick got to congress he voted with Democrats on most domestic issues. "I had to," he said. "I was from an area where everyone was on relief. Still, it takes courage to find yourself the only Republican voting with the Democrats."

In North Dakota, where Republicans squabble with each other more than they do with the Democrats, Burdick has given his political enemies hope.

"I have promised to drop out," he says, "when I reach the age of 90."

He figures this is quite a concession. His mother didn't die until 99, and then only because "she caught pneumonia after crawling up a mountain."

Degree Given For DeMolay

The initiatory degree was conferred by Lee Holmes at the meeting of Twin Falls chapter, Order of DeMolay, Monday evening in the Masonic temple.

Plans were made to reinstate the Buhl chapter Wednesday night. Ray York will act as the installing officer and John Chapman will confer the initiatory degree on eight candidates.

The annual devotional day was set for Sunday at the Church of the Ascension, Episcopal. The Rev. William C. Johnson, Rupert, will officiate and also will give a sermon on ideals, needs and opportunities of DeMolay work.

It was announced that the DeMolay Mother's club, assisted by members' sons, will sponsor a card party March 29 at the Masonic temple. Proceeds will be used to help charter a bus for the state conclave to be held this spring at Idaho Falls. The party will start at 8 p.m. and the public is invited to attend.

No U. S. Slump Is Seen by GM Chief

CHICAGO, March 16 (UP)—Harlow Curtice, president of General Motors, said today he foresees no depression."

Curtice, here for the Chicago automobile show, told a news conference that the only danger to the economy is psychological.

Curtice predicted that the gross national product this year will total close to $355,000,000,000, which was the total for 1953.

He said there is too much emphasis placed on unemployment figures and not enough on employment itself, which is near the all-time high.

There are approximately 60,000,000 persons employed in the U. S. today compared with 57,000,000 in 1950, he said. Unemployment as of last Feb. 28 was 2,700,000, he said, compared with 4,700,000 in 1950.

2 Planes Can Take Off and Land Vertical

WASHINGTON, March 16 (UP) The navy will announce this week the development of two experimental fighting planes which can take off and land vertically and thus need neither runways nor carrier decks to operate.

Despite the fact that two national magazines have been allowed to make pictures and shortly will run stories on the radical new ships the navy does not yet concede officially that the planes exist.

Waiting for Magazine

The "secret" label apparently is to be removed from the VTO (vertical take off) planes coincident with publication of one of the magazine stories in mid-week.

The two new planes, experimental forerunners of types that could revolutionize certain tactical operations, are the Consolidated Vultee aircraft corporation's XFV-1 and the Lockheed aircraft corporation's XFL. Both are powered by 5,500-horsepower gas turbine engines produced by Allison division of General Motors. The engines drive two contra-rotating propellers.

The air force has a similar project under way, involving jet propulsion.

Popular Project

Both services aim to build planes that can take off straight up, fly and maneuver at speeds of 600 or 700 miles an hour and land straight down in an area about like that required for a helicopter. Similar developments are in progress in England and, reportedly, Russia.

The Lockheed model already has flown briefly, but some sources indicate that was an accident. Mounted on temporary landing gear, it was put through fast taxi tests, took off and flew a short distance.

Photo Taken

The navy refused to say anything about the planes even after a San Diego newspaper photographer made and printed a picture of the Consolidated Vultee plane, using a telephoto lens at considerable distance.

The plane had been moved from the factory and was shown standing on its four tail fins, surrounded by a work stand with the large contra-rotating props protruding at the top like a helicopter rotary wing.

Air Force Looks For Region Hero

MOUNTAIN HOME, March 16 (UP) — Does Idaho have an outstanding aviation hero?

If so, there's a chance he may have an air force base named for him.

Col. William W. Wyman, commander of Mountain Home air force base, has written local chambers of commerce asking for nominations.

He said only deceased air force personnel who have performed heroic feats in the air or whose outstanding service has brought honor to the air force would be considered.

Two Youths Held For Crash Death

SPOKANE, March 16 (UP)—Two 18-year-old youths were found guilty last night of negligent homicide in connection with the death of Janet Van Horne, 16, a Riverside high school student killed in a head-on auto crash last December.

The two boys, Patrick Rickey, Jr. Chattaroy, and Vernon Phillips, Colbert, were charged jointly.

The superior court jury deliberated only two hours before rendering their unanimous decision. The jurors made no recommendations. Defense counsel indicated motions for a new trial would be filed.

Dental Chief Raps Toothpaste Claim

WASHINGTON, March 16 (AP)—The president of the American Dental association says an ADA study group has found no acceptable evidence that any toothpaste now on the market has any special value in preventing tooth decay.

Dr. Leslie M. Fitzgerald, Dubuque, Ia., the president, also declared the dental profession is increasingly concerned about possible danger to dental health arising out of certain claims he said were made for tooth pastes.

"Many of the claims for these products," he said in a talk prepared for the District of Columbia Dental society, "tend to discourage such proven dental health procedures as proper toothbrushing immediately after eating and the avoidance of excessive consumption of sugar-containing substances."

Ellis said the nine-foot high fence, bought over two years ago, is still stacked in piles "as big as a house" at 27 bases around the country and deteriorating in the weather.

Pigeon Insomnia Case Is Reported

FORT WORTH, Tex., March 16 (AP)—Her pigeons have insomnia, a house wife complained to police.

Officer G. A. Eurto said the woman explained a floodlight burns all night in a neighbor's backyard. It keeps the pigeons awake. They just can't close their eyes because for them there is no night.

The birds get so sleepy they often tumble off roosts. Several pigeons have been injured seriously.

The woman wanted police to tell the neighbor to turn off the light. Officers were investigating.

The first steam locomotive built in America was credited to Peter Cooper in 1830.

First Registered Strawberries Set

UNIVERSITY OF IDAHO, Moscow, March 16—Idaho's first registered strawberry plants ... at least 40,000 of them ... will be available this spring to growers who want to produce certified plants for commercial berry plantings, reports Dr. A. W. Helton, assistant plant pathologist with the University of Idaho agricultural experiment station.

In 1951, Dr. Helton secured about 2,000 plants of the Marshall variety considered to be virus-free. At the home experiment station at Moscow and the branch station at Parma, Dr. Helton grew them under quarantine conditions.

Cooperating with the experiment station in field increase of the original stock have been three registered plant growers, Patrick Brothers of Caldwell, Yoshio Takahashi of Parma and Erling Johannesen of Emmett.

Other varieties of strawberries will be added to the foundation stock program on demand and on availability of virus-free plants.

Bruins Open Play In Pocatello; Get Big Sendoff Party

The Twin Falls Bruins, fresh from an enthusiastic send-off party, open their drive for the class A basketball title Tuesday night when they meet Madison high, Rexburg, in a 7 p.m. game at Pocatello. Two other fourth district representatives, the Jerome Tigers and the Burley Bobcats [illegible] taste tourney action for the first time Tuesday with Jerome playing Pocatello and Burley meeting Preston. Jerome plays at 8:30 p.m. and Burley at 10 p.m.

Monday noon, upwards of 150 people gathered at the Legion hall to wish the team luck in the tourney.

Speeches and formalities were held to a minimum at the luncheon gathering.

Howard Moffat, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, was master of ceremonies for the party.

Moffat said that regardless of the tournament outcome, "Twin Falls is and will be proud of you. You're our ball club, win, lose or draw."

Dan Falkins, Bruin coach, was introduced and thanked the people for their interest in the club.

"I don't deserve any credit for the showing the Bruins have made this year—I've just ridden along on their bandwagon," Falkins said.

He praised members of the squad and promised "We'll do our best" at Pocatello.

Individual members of the Bruin squad were introduced.

Meanwhile, in Pocatello, the first round of play in the tournament was completed Monday night.

Lewiston scored an upset 56-54 overtime victory over Nampa in the first afternoon game.

Lewiston came from behind and tied the score 51-51 at the end of regulation play. Doug Randall, who was high for the winners, scored all five points made by Lewiston in the overtime.

In the second game, the Bonneville Bees came from behind in the last quarter to defeat Grangeville.

Bonneville trailed all the way until they managed to tie the count at 33-33 with four minutes to play. The score was tied again at 37-37 but Bonneville got in front and stayed until the final buzzer.

The third game saw the South Fremont Cougars turn on a fast break in the second half to speed to the victory over the Boise Braves.

The Cougars, after leading 24-22 at the half, tightened their defense in the third period and turned on a fast break to hold Boise to seven points while scoring 14.

A big Kellogg team wrapped up play in the opening round with a 58-51 win over Blackfoot.

The concessions committee of the Magic Valley Cowboys met Monday night at the ballpark to discuss further plans for operation of the concessions stand this season.

The committee is still undecided whether to operate the concessions based on a turnstile count or to hire one individual to run the whole thing.

The committee, consisting of Ben Sprague, Charles Andrus, Dick Serpa and Roy Fait, indicated it was willing to accept bids from parties interested in operating the concessions.

The committee will meet again at 7:30 p.m. Friday at the ballpark.

Fight to End Lightweight Confusion

SPOKANE, March 16 (U.P.)—Bobby Woods and Georgie Dunn fight 12 rounds for the northwest lightweight title Tuesday night after arguing for days over who's the incumbent.

The debate ended in a draw and the bout is also rated a toss-up. Woods, a Spokane favorite, claims he holds the title now. Dunn, an Edmont, Alta., Negro, claims he won it last year from Joe Velez.

The fight has been sanctioned as a "title match" by the Washington state athletic commisaion and Woods is listed as the northwest champ on the billboards.

The preliminaries include Gene Brizen, Sandpoint, and John Masonovich, Butte, Mont., heavyweights scheduled for six rounds; Barrie Jackson, Spokane, and Joe Aguilar, Seattle, heavyweights, four; Tony Alvarez, Seattle, and Bobby Doll, Spokane lightweights, four; Charlie Clem, Seattle, and Ron Milney, Spokane, lightweights, four.

Color-Lacking Jockey Is Burning up Coast Tracks

By HAL WOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, March 16 (AP)—A young man with the plain name of Ray York is setting the Pacific Coast racing world on fire this spring.

As color goes he doesn't have it. He doesn't have a nickname like Willie (Silent) Shoemaker, the national jockey champion, like Eddie (Banana Nose) Arcaro, or Johnny (Moneybags) Longden.

But currently York is the leading money-winning jockey in the country for the year of 1954. Already he has boosted home something like $300,000 in winners this year including a pair of $100,000 stakes at Santa Anita.

He hasn't won the Kentucky derby yet but Ilerio is a good chance he will. Owners think so highly of him that he was riding in the derby several years ago, when the average fan never had heard of his name.

At 23 he has had a lot of experience on the major circuit, especially considering the fact that his background has to do with the sea. His dad is a regular navy man and not until Ray found out that he wasn't going to be very big did he turn to the horses.

He has been a bit right from the start. At the age of 19 he was good enough to ride in the Kentucky derby.

He not only has a good seat on a horse, follow instructions faithfully from the trainers and has strong hands, but he has a lot of racing courage.

When there is an opening just big enough to see right through York will try to get through with his horse.

He has it in other ways, too. The other day he fell off a horse at Bay Meadows. This often upsets a jockey so much that, even if he is not hurt physically, he will cancel his mounts for the rest of the day or at least for a race or two.

But not York. He came right back next race aboard a favorite and come home in front, winner a good half length in the mud.

Ray rode Determine to victory in the Santa Anita derby and probably will be aboard him when he goes in the Kentucky derby.

Brooklyn Boss Scoffs at Claims That Old Age Overtaking Dodgers

MIAMI, Fla., March 16 (U.P.)—They are hoping in the other National league spring training camps that old age is going to catch up with Brooklyn this season, but president Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers Monday laughed off such a possibility.

"Even if age starts to show," he said, "we have youngsters ready to take over."

And he went down the list of Dodger hopefuls. It was an impressive one. Here is the way he put it:

"If Billy Cox (34) should start showing sign of wear and tear at third base, what's wrong with Don Hoak (26)? If Pee Wee Reese should slow down too much where is there a more promising shortstop in baseball than Don Zimmer (23)? And if Gil Hodges, who is only 30, should falter at first base, where would you find a better successor than Wayne Belardi (23)? His fielding needs a little polishing, but that's all.

"And if Jackie Robinson can't play left field, what would be wrong with a fellow like Don Thompson (30)? As for catching, Roy Campanella may be getting along in years but sitting on the bench we have a fellow in Al Walker, who with the exception of the Yankees, probably could be the No. 1 catcher on any club in the majors."

Campanella insists he is 32, although there is considerable suspicion that he is older than that. Walker is only 27. But behind Campanella and Walker, O'Malley is sure the Dodgers have a sure-shot catching star in Charlie Thompson, who is 27.

"Honk, Zimmer, Belardi, and the two Thompsons could make almost any major league club today," O'Malley claimed.

"So we are not worrying about age in Brooklyn. Should it catch up with our veterans, we feel sure we have youngsters ready to take over. So those other National league clubs had better start discounting age as a factor—it won't be this year, whether we play our veterans or our youngsters."

"No-Clinch" Kid Troy Predicts Win by KO

NEW YORK, March 16 (AP)—Willie Troy, latest rave of the TV fight fans, figures his non-stop punching style will earn him a victory over Joey Giardello Friday night as well as the cheers of the garden video viewers. Willie is the 21-year-old phenom who wowed everyone along the coaxial cable in his eighth round knockout of Moses Ward in Detroit Feb. 3. In that one, Willie the walloper had an able partner in Ward. Neither stopped throwing leather until Ward was knoved.

The International Boxing club received almost as much mail on that slugfest as they collected for a couple of bum decisions on a few fights of recent date.

Willie has a simple formula for victory.

"If I can catch 'em, I can knock 'em out," he said. "I expect to catch Giardello."

Now ranked as the No. 7 middleweight contender (Giardello is No. 2), the solidly built, six-foot Negro youngster has compiled a 26-1 record in a little less than three years of pro fighting. He has kayoed 20 of his rivals. His only loss was an eighth round technical knockout by Holly Mims, also Washington, a year ago.

"Giardello is a good boxer," said slow talking Willie. "He's not aggressive and I'll have to go after him."

Boxing writers have named Willie "the No-Clinch Kid." Willie likes the tag. How does he explain the lack of clinches in his fights?

"I go in there and keep punching," he replied. "If I'm punching they better punch too, or fall." I'm not going to give anyone a chance to rest. The fans want a show for their money and I give them one."

Ellsworth, Black Tie for Golf Honors

Byron Ellsworth and Lelan Black tied for top honors in the blind bogey tournament held Sunday at Blue Lakes country club.

Second-place honors went to Ed Purves, Al Westergren, L. H. Haslam and Glen Jenkins.

In Saturday's play, Lynn Hempleman copped first place honors with Dr. H. L. Stowe and Frank Pleza tied for second spot.

Frank Johnson, pro at the club, announced that the women golfers have started their challenge ladder.

Mrs. Robert Sutcliff, who was on top of the ladder, was challenged by Mrs. Ed Purves and defeated 3 and 2.

It is the first time in several years that the challenge ladder has been used.

Sherrod's rolled a 3013.

In second place in the early action was the Rexhide Plumbers team which rolled 2971. Union Motors held down third position with a score of 2934.

The tourney will continue for the remainder of the week.

Lapwai Serves Notice

LAPWAI, March 16 (U.P.)—The 425 excited citizens of Lapwai served notice on south Idaho Monday:

"The little Wildcats are coming, and a faster, shiftier crop you've seldom seen."

And the menace is consigned by neutral observers who watched Lapwai high school run the legs off the opposition to win the north Idaho class B basketball title at Moscow and qualify for the state tournament.

"They're pretty darn good," said Chuck Finley, the University of Idaho coach who saw Lapwai beat Priest River 71-63 and Moscow 63-44 over the week-end in the Vandal gym.

The Wildcats seven of the 10 players on the team are Nez Perce Indians. Set fly with a blistering fast break and a clever passing attack for an eye-popping exhibition for their first district title [illegible] 75 ye rs. The team averages only a little over 5 foot-9.

This little town has gone basketball crazy and a mass migration south is expected when the Wildcats leave for the state tournament starting Friday at Twin Falls.

The Wildcats, who finished the season with a 22-3 record, will compete against Wilder, North Gem and North Marsh for the state title and a goodly group of home folks will be on hand. They left town in droves for the regional finals at Moscow.

Coach Harley Williams, a native of Clarkston, Wash., who played football and baseball at both Idaho and North Idaho College of Education, has a small team with only two boys at six feet or more.

Eddie Madsen, a 5-foot-11 senior who has been the leading scorer, has been described as central Idaho's fastest player and prime college material. He plays forward.

The Sabotta brothers, 6-foot Jerry and 5-9 Bob; Marcus Wilson, a sophomore playmaker at 5-9, and Jess Tilden, the center at 6-3, make up the starting team along with Madsen.

Montana Breaks In Brand New Baseball Coach

MISSOULA, Mont., March 16 (AP)—Montana university will sport a new coach and only six veterans when it opens the 1954 Skyline conference baseball campaign with a double-header at Brigham Young university April 9.

Robert (Lefty) Byrne, former Montanta State university athlete and professional player, will guide the diamond squad this season.

Returning veterans include co-captains Eddie Anderson and Don Clark, catcher and first baseman, respectively. Also back are Sam Davis and Clint Humble, shortstops; Robert Marshall, pitcher, and Don Nichol, second baseman.

Four pitchers and the entire outfield were taken by graduation.

The schedule: April 9, at Brigham Young (2); April 10, at University of Utah; April 15, at Utah State (2); April 23, University of Utah; April 30, Brigham Young (2); May 1, Gonzaga university (2); May 7, Utah State (2); May 21, Montana State (2); May 28-29, conference championship playoff.

Game Department Sets Observances

BOISE, March 16 (AP)—Ross Leonard, state fish and game department director, said Monday open houses and guided tours in honor of National Wildlife week March 21-27 would be held at a number of department installations. They include:

Tourney Officials Amazed at Results Of Regional Play

KANSAS CITY, March 16 (AP)—[illegible] another long and diabolically [illegible] finalists in the NCAA basketball [illegible] Sunday at the [illegible] City is basketball happy.

They weren't worried [illegible] bound to be top notch. It is just [illegible] to wind up with LaSalle, Indiana and M[illegible] or Kansas and probably Oregon State or Santa Clara, they got instead La Salle, Penn State, Bradley and Southern California.

Not one of the four is among the nation's top 10 in the Associated Press poll taken prior to the opening rounds of NCAA competition although most or all of them probably will be in this week's poll to be announced Tuesday.

The officials, however, still expect sellouts both Friday and Saturday night in the 9,800-seat Municipal auditorium which has been home more often than anywhere else to the 18-year-old tournament. Most of the seats already have been sold.

LaSalle, the only pre-tournament favorite to survive the unsettled regionals last week-end, will meet surprising Penn State, conqueror of LSU and Notre Dame, in the first semifinal game at 7 p.m. (MST).

Bradley, winner over Oklahoma A & M, and Southern California, which needed a double overtime to edge Santa Clara, tangle in the second game.

The teams are expected to begin arriving here Wednesday night. The National Basketball Coaches association opens a three-day convention Thursday, preceded by a testimonial dinner Wednesday night.

The coaches, among other things, will try to agree on whether the rules should be changed and how [illegible]
